They build on their graphic organizers from Lesson 16 in order to plan and write a three-paragraph essay sharing their opinions about Jackie Robinson's legacy stating two reasons with evidence from pages 58–62 of Promises to Keep. In Unit 3, students will learn how to write a conclusion about their opinion.• This assessment is an “open book” on-demand writing assessment. Students may use their texts, their notes, and their vocabulary cards.• For this assessment, students are expected to meet just the key criteria for success listed in the Teacher Resources, not the fuller PARCC rubric. The full PARCC Analytical Writing Rubric is included in the supporting materials simply for teacher reference. In Unit 3, students' will work with the teacher across multiple lessons to co-construct a similar rubric, and their writing will then be assessed using the rubric.

Opening	Meeting Students’ Needs
A. Engaging the Reader and Reviewing Learning Targets (7 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Compliment students on all that they have learned about Jackie Robinson through their close analytical reading of Promises to Keep. Get them excited about the opportunity they have today to write their own opinion about his legacy and support that opinion with reasons and interesting facts and details (evidence). Remind them that they will be writing about a section of the text they have already read three times (during Lesson 16). • Ask students to turn to a partner and share something they want to remember from the pages they discussed yesterday (about Jackie Robinson’s legacy) that they want to be sure to include in their essay. • Review the first three learning targets: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – “I can write a paragraph to introduce the topic and my opinion.” – “I can write body paragraphs that group evidence together to support a reason.” – “I can use linking words to connect my reasons and evidence to my opinion.” • Review key vocabulary. Focus students’ attention on the words topic, opinion, body paragraphs, group, evidence, support, reason, linking words, and evidence. Ask students to share the meaning of these words aloud. Listen for definitions such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – topic: what something is about; subject – opinion: point of view; position on an issue – body paragraphs: the paragraphs after the introduction in an essay – group: put together – evidence: proof; facts; data; information – support: reinforce; provide evidence; make claim stronger – reason: why someone believes what they believe – linking words: connected words; words that help the reader know what goes together or comes next 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students who struggle with recalling the meaning of many academic words at one time would benefit from learning target annotations from previous lessons. Display them for students to see, and divide the class into groups to focus on each one. Allow them to share out the meaning of the key academic vocabulary in each.

Work Time	Meeting Students' Needs
A. End of Unit Assessment (40 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Distribute the End of Unit 2 Assessment: Writing an Opinion Essay with Supporting Evidence about Jackie Robinson's Legacy (which includes the Opinions, Reasons, and Evidence graphic organizer that students will use to plan their essay) and two pieces of lined paper. Invite students to quickly skim the assessment.• Point out to students that they are going to write an essay. Tell students they for this assessment, they should refer to Promises to Keep from this unit, their students' journals with graphic organizers they recorded opinions and evidence onto, their vocabulary cards, and the anchor charts: Jackie Robinson and Life in America, Criteria for Writing Opinion Essays, and Linking Words the class created.• Direct students to focus on the Criteria for Success listed at the bottom of the assessment. Ask students to pay particular attention to the fact that they will need to organize their opinion, reasons, and evidence before writing their paragraphs.• Review with students the criteria for a good opinion essay on the Criteria for Writing Opinion Essays anchor chart. Address any clarifying questions.• Circulate to supervise. Because this is a formal on-demand assessment, do not provide support other than formally approved accommodations.• If students finish the assessment early, they may read independently or begin work on the End of Unit 2, Tracking My Progress recording form.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Provide students who struggle with language extra time to complete the assessment.• Consider allowing students who struggle with writing the opportunity to dictate their end of unit assessment to a teacher.

Work Time (continued)	Meeting Students' Needs
B. End of Unit: Tracking My Progress (8 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Introduce the learning target:<ul style="list-style-type: none">* “I can reflect on my learning about how evidence is used to support an opinion.”• Ask students to recall the meaning of the word reflect (look back at my work to think about what I did; how I did; what I am having trouble with; what I am doing well).• Distribute the Tracking My Progress, End of Unit 2 recording form to students. Explain that this is a self-assessment, exactly like the Tracking My Progress forms they completed for previous assessments. They will reflect on their progress toward the learning targets. Read through the tracker and provide clarification as necessary for students.• Ask students to independently complete their Tracking My Progress forms. Ask them to hold on to this sheet to refer to during the lesson debrief.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Provide nonlinguistic symbol for reflect (a thought bubble above a person's head).• Consider allowing students who struggle with language to dictate their Tracking My Progress recording form to a partner or the teacher.

Closing and Assessment	Meeting Students’ Needs
A. Debrief: Sharing Reflections on Learning Targets (5 minutes) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Congratulate students on how much they have learned about Jackie Robinson’s legacy through their close reads and discussions. • Pair up students. Ask them to share the reflections on their Tracking My Progress recording forms. • Invite several students to share out with the whole group. • Pique students’ interest for the upcoming unit. Say: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> * “In Unit 3, you will apply what you have learned about forming opinions, identifying reasons and evidence, and writing opinion essays while you research one of two other famous athletes from the past.” • Collect students’ Tracking My Progress recording forms. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Intentionally partner ELL students with students who speak the same home language for the debrief.
Homework	Meeting Students’ Needs
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Continue reading in your independent reading book for this unit at home. □ Note: Be sure to prepare all research texts for the three expert groups that students will be in for Unit 3. Group research will begin in Lesson 3 of that unit. Review the end of unit assessments to assess students’ progress on standards W.5.1 and W.5.9. Be prepared to return the assessments to students in Lesson 9 of Unit 3.

End of Unit 2 Assessment:

Writing an Opinion Essay with Supporting Evidence about
Jackie Robinson's Legacy

Name: _____

Date: _____

What opinion do you have about Jackie Robinson's legacy? After reading Promises to Keep about how Jackie Robinson changed America, write an essay in which you share an opinion about Jackie Robinson's legacy. Include an introduction paragraph and two body paragraphs, one for each reason. Be sure each reason paragraph includes at least three pieces of evidence from the text. (Remember, you don't have to write a conclusion yet.) Also be sure you include key vocabulary from the text.

Directions:	1. Refer to your resources: Promises to Keep (pages 58–63), your journal, your vocabulary cards, and our class anchor charts.
	2. Remind yourself of your opinion about Jackie Robinson's legacy that you wrote in your journal.
	3. Organize your ideas: Use the Opinion, Reasons, and Evidence graphic organizer to plan your writing. Be sure to refer to the notes you took in your journal and the evidence flags in the text.
	4. Write an essay that includes the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none">– an introduction paragraph– two body paragraphs (one for each reason)– supporting evidence for the reason and opinion– key vocabulary
